

Your child may be eligible for FREE TUTORING!

If your child's school is listed in this pamphlet, your child may be eligible to receive free tutoring through Supplemental Educational Services.

Getting Extra Help for Your Child

In 2002, No Child Left Behind became law. As part of that law, when a child receives free or reduced price lunch and is attending a low performing school, federal funds can be used to provide tutoring for that child.

What are Supplemental Educational Services?

The term supplemental educational services (SES) refers to extra help provided to students in reading, language arts, and math. Services are offered after school or on weekends.

If my child is in a school that needs improvement, how can I begin to get help?

Your school district is required by law to provide you with a list of the state-approved education programs available in your area. Call your child's school.

If your local school system hasn't contacted you, contact your school and ask for information! There are 37 state-approved tutoring companies that can help your child be successful.

How do I choose a good program?
The law requires that supplemental educational service providers deliver high-quality, research-based instruction. Your school district is required to give you information about every available program in your area. Your local school system can help you select a provider if you request their guidance.

Take advantage of free tutoring services, if you're eligible, so your child can take PRIDE in his or her own success story!

If your child attends a school listed here, your child may be eligible for
