Teach Them All: Innovative Practices in Education

The Maryland Professional Development School (PDS) Network is a collaboration of Maryland based partnerships between K-12 schools and Institutions of Higher Education. The 2018 PDS conference will include an opening session with keynote speaker, DeWayne Wheeler; a visual display of inquiry studies by Maryland PDS Interns; concurrent sessions for new and seasoned educators; and an EdCamp-style plenary session to close out the conference. Back by popular demand is the New Teacher Panel, designed especially to address the fears and anxieties of teacher interns as they prepare to enter the K-12 classroom as first year teachers.
