HOW CAN I USE THIS REPORT TO HELP MY CHILD?

Use the report to start a discussion with your child’s teacher(s) about his/her academic strengths and areas for improvement. You could ask:

- What can we do at home, in class and at school to help continue building my child’s knowledge and skills in areas where he/she exceeds the expectations?
- What can we do at home, in class and at school to help support my child, where the expectations of the grade level were not met?

What are the PARCC tests? The tests measure how well students have learned grade-level material in English language arts/literacy and mathematics. Students who meet or exceed expectations are on track for the next grade level and, ultimately, for college and careers. The tests include questions that measure your child’s fundamental skills and knowledge, and require students to think critically, solve problems and support or explain their answers. The test is one of several ways to help parents and teachers understand how well children are learning.

What do the performance levels mean? The performance levels listed below describe how well students met the academic expectations for their grade level.

- Level 1: Did not yet meet expectations
- Level 2: Partially met expectations
- Level 3: Approached expectations
- Level 4: Met expectations
- Level 5: Exceeded expectations

How do the test scores this year compare to those in past years? The knowledge and skills tested this year are different - and in some cases more rigorous - than in the past. If your child’s score is different than you expected, meet with your child’s teacher to understand what that means and how you can help your child improve his or her performance.

How will my child’s school use the test results? Results from the test give your child’s teacher information about his/her academic performance. The results also give your school and school district important information to make improvements to the education program and to teaching.

How can I use the reading and writing scores? The best way to make sense of these scores is to compare them to the average for students who met the expectations and the average for students in your child’s school, district, and state. Also, look at the information below the scores. How is your child doing in each area of reading and writing? Ask your child’s teacher how you can give your child more opportunities to be challenged and how you can support his/her academic needs.

Probable range. The probable range in the score on this test is plus or minus 4 points. This is the amount of change that would be expected in your child’s score if he/she were to take the test many times. Small differences in scores should not be over interpreted.
