SUBJECT: MASSP Middle and High School Principals of the Year for 2019
        MASSP Assistant Principal of the Year for 2019

PURPOSE:
To provide State Board recognition of the individuals selected by the Maryland Association of Secondary School Principals to represent Maryland as Principal of the Year at the middle and high school level and Assistant Principal of the Year.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY:
Each year the Maryland Association of Secondary School Principals (MASSP) in collaboration with the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP) selects a Principal of the Year who represents Maryland in Washington D.C. at the national awards ceremonies. In addition, we select an Assistant Principal of the Year.

MASSP’s 2019 Middle School Principal of the Year is Ms. Cindy Dillon who was the Principal at Patapsco Middle School in Howard County last year and is currently the Principal of Centennial High School. She has been an educator with the Howard County Public School System for twenty-five years; working as a school-based administrator for seventeen of those years. Cindy is a collaborative leader who believes in cultivating an environment where both students and staff grow and learn together. When decisions need to be made, she insists the identified course of action will be, first and foremost, in the best interest of the students.

MASSP’s 2019 High School Principal of the Year is Ms. Mildred Charley-Greene, Principal of Northwood High School in Montgomery County. As a Montgomery County elementary and middle school teacher, literacy coach, assistant principal and middle and high school principal, she has insisted on the ability of each individual to grow as learners and leaders. In 2013 she was appointed as principal of Northwood High School in Silver Spring. There she has championed inclusiveness, elevating the input of students, staff and families; working tenaciously to promote the excellence in everyone. Students and staff embrace two mottos: #bettertogether and #believe. All students take part in culminating capstone projects that meet a school need. Staff work in professional learning communities to discuss methods of best meeting student needs. By adopting a pedagogy and culture of insistence, Ms. Charley-Greene celebrates individual contributions to the school community.

MASSP’s Assistant Principal of the Year is Mr. John Seibel, Assistant Principal at Hammond High School in Howard County. John began his teaching career in 1993 as a 6th grade social studies teacher at Northwest Middle School in Taneytown, Maryland. In 2002 he transferred to Wilde Lake High School in Columbia, Maryland. Although a middle school background, he was given the opportunity to teach Advanced Placement Psychology and Advanced Placement United States Government his first two years.

John had the privilege to serve as an assistant principal at Wilde Lake for eight years. In 2012, John moved to Hammond High School in Columbia, Maryland. At Hammond John focused on increasing the graduation rate, 9th grade promotion rate, and minority student participation in Advanced Placement classes and SATs. Most notable was John’s development and implementation of a week long summer acceleration academy for Hammond’s students of color and Free and Reduced Meals students taking their first honors, gifted and talented, and/or Advanced Placement class.

ACTION:

Public recognition. No other action required.

2019 High School Principal of the Year

Mildred Charley-Greene

Throughout her 20 years as an educator, Mildred Charley-Greene has demonstrated her belief in the power of being a "warm demander." As a Montgomery County elementary and middle school teacher, literacy coach, assistant principal and middle and high school principal, she has insisted on the ability of each individual to grow as learners and leaders. In 2013 she was appointed as principal of Northwood High School in Silver Spring. There she has championed inclusiveness, elevating the input of students, staff and families; working tenaciously to promote the excellence in everyone. Students and staff embrace two mottos: #bettertogether and #believe. All students take part in culminating capstone projects that meet a school need. Staff work in professional learning communities to discuss methods of best meeting student needs. Parents and community members are present and welcome in the school, most recently building a dugout for the school baseball team and providing career shadow experiences for students.

By adopting a pedagogy and culture of insistence, Ms. Charley-Greene celebrates individual contributions to the school community. As a result, the school is busy six days week. Adult learning occurs in the evenings, Saturday school on the weekends and, through a partnership with a Wellness Center, families receive the medical, emotional and financial support they need to focus on learning. As the work continues, Ms. Charley-Greene remains committed to new and innovative ways to inspire all learners to discover the leader within themselves.
Cindy Dillon has been an educator with the Howard County Public School System for twenty-five years; working as a school-based administrator for seventeen of those years. Mrs. Dillon holds a Master of Education in Supervision and Administration from Loyola University in Maryland and a Bachelor of Science in Education from the University of Maryland, College Park. During her career she has served in a variety of school settings and is currently the proud principal of Patapsco Middle School.

During her career, Mrs. Dillon has served as: a Principal Leader working on the development of a program to promote National Board Certification for Principals; a mentor to new and aspiring educational leaders; an executive board member for the Howard County Administrators Association; and a member of the Superintendents School Safety and Advisory Cabinet, to name a few of her professional engagements. Cindy is a collaborative leader who believes in cultivating an environment where both students and staff grow and learn together. When decisions need to be made, she insists the identified course of action will be, first and foremost, in the best interest of the students.

Mrs. Dillon is a resident of Howard County, where she lives in Ellicott City with her husband. She has three children who are graduates of the Howard County Public School System.

SUBJECT: MAESP 2017 National Distinguished Principal and Assistant Principal of the Year 2018

PURPOSE: To provide State Board of Education recognition of the individuals selected by the Maryland Association of Elementary School Principals (MAESP) to represent Maryland as the 2018 National Distinguished Principal and Assistant Principal of the Year at the elementary level.

Tracy Hilliard, principal of Centerville Elementary in Frederick County was selected as Maryland’s 2018 National Distinguished Principal of the Year (NDP). Mrs. Hilliard received her award during MAESP’s Annual Leadership Conference in Cambridge on March 17th. Mrs. Hilliard was not only surprised but humbled.

SUMMARY:

The award is presented each year as a collaborative effort between the National Association of Elementary School Principals (NAESP) and the Maryland Association of Elementary School Principals (MAESP). The NDP program was established in 1984 to recognize elementary and middle-level principals who set high standards for instruction, student achievement, character, and climate for students, families, and staffs in their learning communities.

Mrs. Hilliard was nominated and selected through a statewide search process conducted by MAESP. The criteria for the National Distinguished Principal award are defined by NAESP and MAESP. It requires that the applicant be a practicing principal with at least five years’ experience in the principalship. The principal must demonstrate evidence of outstanding contributions to the community and to the education profession. Mrs. Hilliard joined other state NDP recipients for a two-day recognition events and ceremony in Washington D.C. in October 2018 including a gala held at the Capital Hilton ballroom.

Melissa Freistat, Assistant Principal of Pocomoke Elementary School in Pocomoke Maryland, last school year, Worcester County was selected as Maryland’s 2018 National Outstanding Assistant Principal of the Year (NOAP). The award is presented each year as a collaborative effort between the National Association of Elementary School Principals (NAESP) and the Maryland Association of Elementary School Principals (MAESP). The NOAP program promotes recognition of assistant principals for excellence of leadership in their public and/or private elementary or middle schools.

Mrs. Freistat received her award during MAESP’s Annual Leadership Conference in Cambridge on March 15th. The criteria for the National Outstanding Assistant Principal award are defined by NAESP and MAESP. It requires that the applicant be an active assistant principal for at least two years of a school where programs are designed to meet the academic and social needs of all students; contributes significantly to both the school and school community; demonstrates exceptional leadership in a particular school program; is respected by students, colleagues, parents and staff; and, sets high expectations for school staff and students.

The Maryland Association of Elementary School Principals is a joint member affiliate of the National Association of Elementary School Principals located in Alexandria, Virginia. MAESP is committed to advocacy, service, and support for its members. Members include principals, assistant principals, aspiring leaders, retired leaders and central office supervisors and administrators. MAESP is a professional organization that has been in existence since 1946.
MELISSA FREISTAT, ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL POCOMOKE MIDDLE SCHOOL, WORCESTER COUNTY
MAESP’S 2018 OUTSTANDING ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

Mrs. Freistat received her award while assistant principal at Pocomoke Elementary School. Dr. Michael Browne, principal of Pocomoke Elementary and Melissa’ immediate supervisor shared that Melissa is an ‘outstanding leader whose primary focus in her role as assistant principal is to increase teacher capacity to improve student achievement; she is an amazing leader’.

Mrs. Freistat was nominated and selected through a statewide search process conducted by MAESP. She holds a Master’s Degree in School Leadership from Wilmington University Georgetown Delaware; and, a Bachelor of Science Degree in Elementary Education from Salisbury University in Salisbury, Maryland. Melissa served as assistant principal at Pocomoke Elementary from 2014 to this past year. Prior to that assignment, Mrs. Freistat served as Assistant Principal at Snow Hill High School in Snow Hill, Maryland. She is currently the Assistant Principal at Pocomoke Middle School.

Mrs. Freistat’s primary focus is to increase teacher capacity to improve student achievement. She teamed with both the literacy and mathematics coaches to design a system of personalized professional development for every teacher through a system of choice. With the new professional development system, teachers have options for individualizing their professional learning. Mrs. Freistat worked closely with the Pocomoke Elementary school’s Leadership Team to meet the diverse needs of students through use of evidence-based programs and interventions. Mrs. Freistat’s passion is “to ensure that a safe, nurturing, positive learning environment is made available to all with an outcome of resiliency among learners including the ability to thrive socially, emotionally and academically”. Mrs. Freistat was often included by students in their celebrations through personal invitation. She is well respected and trusted by her colleagues, staff, parents, and students.

Restructuring “school” to embrace personalized learning for all students was on ongoing process for Mrs. Freistat while at Pocomoke Elementary. Mrs. Freistat collaborated with the Leadership Team to determine best practices including evidence-based programs, resources and interventions necessary to ensure equitable access to educational and behavioral success.

Louis Taylor, Superintendent of Schools, shared that “Mrs. Freistat built a community of encouragement for educators. Spearheading the Maryland State Department of Education’s Model for Peer to Peer Coaching, instituting personalized professional development and providing leadership opportunities to teachers, the teaching staff at Pocomoke Elementary School has become a model for professional creativity”.

Mrs. Freistat is an outstanding educational leader.
TRACY HILLIARD, PRINCIPAL CENTREVILLE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL, FREDERICK COUNTY
MAESP’S 2018 NATIONAL DISTINGUISHED PRINCIPAL

Mrs. Hilliard has been principal at Centerville Elementary since 2013. Prior to this assignment she served as principal at Tuscarora Elementary School. She holds a Bachelor’s Degree from Delaware State College in Dover, Delaware; a master’s Degree from McDaniel College in Westminster Maryland and is currently in a Doctoral program through Seton Hall University in New Jersey.

Mark Pritts, Elementary Instructional Director Frederick County shared this about Mrs. Hilliard:

“As Mrs. Hilliard’s supervisor, we applaud her constant and consistent efforts to lead the students, staff, and community daily at Centerville Elementary. Leading an elementary school that hovers around 1000 students each year is a tremendous responsibility, one that she embraces and looks forward to every fall. One visit to her school and it will become clear why Centerville Elementary school was chosen as a Maryland Blue Ribbon School. Mrs. Hilliard is at the heart of its success.”

Mrs. Hilliard is proud of her accomplishments including Centerville Elementary being named a 2016 Maryland Blue Ribbon School and a 2017 National Blue-Ribbon School. Centerville’s mission statement ‘where our starts shine bright’ is exemplified by the daily actions of Mrs. Hilliard. She greets her student scholars each morning and encourages and supports each student scholar in succeeding academically and behaviorally. Mrs. Hilliard has facilitated and sustained a collaborative partnership with parents strengthening the home-school connection through planned teaching and informational days and nights for parents to visit and to be a part of their ‘scholar’s’ learning. The sessions included information on reading, writing, and STEAM activities as well as information on productive struggle in math.

Along with her staff, Mrs. Hilliard is proud of her staff’s professional learning accomplishments and awards which includes local recognition for Outstanding Teachers of the Year and National Board Certification. Mrs. Hilliard recognizes the importance of being both an instructional leader and a manager. She utilizes her resources and school-based building leaders to support student achievement. She works collaboratively with her team to identify academic targets and monitor school progress to implement instructional strategies to increase scholar achievement.

Mrs. Hilliard has created a culture of continuous learning for adults, students and parents. She provides opportunities for staff, students and parents to grow. She connects with her students building relationships that assist in connecting students with school and to build their confidence in learning and behaving.

Ashleigh Duclos, a parent at of a Centerville Elementary ‘STAR’ shared this about Mrs. Hilliard:

“Being a principal is an amazing and important job that comes with a lot of responsibility. As a parent, you look to the principal to be the leader of your school and create a positive learning environment where students, as well as parents, feel welcomed and safe. Mrs. Tracy Hilliard has worked to ensure that each child who enters through her school doors each morning is provided all the tools needed to be successful and feels like they are an important part of the Centerville team!”
